HHHS confirms negative results for COVID-19 testing at Highland Wood and Hyland Crest

Today, HHHS has confirmed that the COVID-19 tests of staff and residents at Highland Wood and Hyland Crest have all come back negative.

Further surveillance testing of all HHHS staff took place on May 5th and HHHS is able to confirm that 100% of those tests results have also been negative.

“While we are extremely pleased to share this news, we are looking at this testing as strictly one ‘picture in time’”, said Carolyn Plummer, President & CEO. “HHHS will not relax our diligent work to protect all residents and staff, including through physical distancing and handwashing, twice-daily temperature screening, and the wearing of masks in our facilities.”
